RELEASE OF COL. GROGAN -The Montreal Herald of Tuesday last announces that Col Grogan has been set at liberty by Sir Richard Jackson. on application of the United States authorities .-He was released on Monday, and placed under the erotection of a Montreal inspector of police to be by him safely escerted to the Province line. The Herald makes a great parade of the magnanimity f the Colonial Government in generously relinspeculation in Flour-Combination of Millers to cut off the Supply from the City of New-York.

Correspondence of The Tribune. BUFFALO, Oct. 5, 1841.

GENTLAMEN :- When I wrote you announcing the capture of Lett, I adverted to the fact that ome fingers had been badly burned, in their recent operations in flour and wheat. That was just afer the arrival of the steamboat at Boston with the sory of "failure of crops in England," and upon the strength of which this region of country was overrun with speculators in bread-stuffs. These rumers communicated their disease to local operaand wherever the infection became epidemic, the patients are still suffering severely. Of course all known remedies have been resorted to; as, when prices began to fall off in your city, from heir artificial elevation, your price currents vere made to say that arrivals of flour from the West, for the last few days, had been very light, c. To this the verbal croakers added that the eater in the canal was so low as to stop naviga- vice James M. Strode. ion, with no prospect of relief; that the Mills at me West were all idle for want of water, &c .-Now the practical truth of this last, served to make the other statement pass something better; but all would not do, for still, in the phrase of the prices current, "the tendency, in flour, was downward," fiel, and the sufferers have new hit upon a new device to reach the case. Certain Millers had entered into a conspiracy or compact to stop their bills for a time, in the hope that by this they may shorten the supply of flour to your city, and thereby long up the price so as to realize the exorbitant prices which they paid, in the hight of their hopes, seme weeks since, for the raw material. How far this combination extends it may be difficult to desemble, but it is probably confined to this State.—

If this is so, it can have little effect upon your market, in reality; though it may do something through the conceited efforts of the croakers, of short I suppose you will find no lack. One story will probably be, the old one, namely, that the strains are all too low to allow of griading; and this, too, in the very face of the late abundant mains. But the language smong these men themeves is, We have stopped our mills to produce a semporary scarcity, by which we hope to save ourselves.

They said that if the combination is confined to his State it can do little, and such is the fact.—
The wheat-growing regions of the West—west I man of the State of New-York, that alcontrol of the wheat and flour market, by men alcont mills for a time, in the hope that by this they may shorten the supply of flour to your city, and thereby

The region is so extended, and the interests of its occupants so influenced by circumstances of a local nature, that current of action and therefore of result is impossible. This has been both seen and felt, for several years, by the wheat monopolizers: and the most they atythe wheat monopolizers; and the most they atampt to do now is, annually to 'cook up' for the
